Introduction

This is a third edition of our Directory on "Exporters from India". The earlier two editions were published in 1970 and 1975. The popularity of this Directory and requests from all over the world had prompted us to issue this third edition. Within the scope of a compact publication, we have sought to include the relevant information on the manufacturers and exporters of a wide variety of items that India can offer to importers overseas. We have included the particulars of over 1,750 such exporters on the basis of information received from them, in response to a proforma issued by the Federation to exporters all over the country. However, it must be clarified that the Federation does not accept any responsibility as to the financial standing of any firm listed in the Directory. The Federation would attempt to make this publication more comprehensive by publishing up-to-date issues of this Directory from time to time.

In the first section of the Directory an initial write-up spells out India's progress in the industrial sphere, her achievements in world trade and her accent on quality. The second write-up is on the various organisations and institutions set up by the Government of India to serve as dynamic and useful links between Indian exporters and overseas importers.

The various products that India can offer for exports have been classified into 12 broad sections. Each of these sections is further divided into sub-sections as spelt out in the contents.

India: A Date with tomorrow

India's success story unfolds a fascinating panorama Against the backdrop provided by an unique democratic system India's achievements are manifold: social welfare, health, communications, agriculture, education, irrigation, industry and economy

India's past is as old as history itself. Ancient India's contribution to science, mathematics and culture is well-establised. Even the figure 'zero' was an Indian introduction. Subsequently, the country was fettered by outsiders depriving it of the growth that would normally have been hers if fostered by national interests. It was only three decades ago that the nation threw off its fetters and started on the gigantic task of national reconstruction with brave attempts to make-up for lost time and to keep pace with modern technology and achievements.

In practical terms, India is thus of recent birth. Considering this, her achievements are commendable. A wise balance has been struck between agriculture and industry. Today the country manufactures most of its consumer goods. The 'green' and 'white' revolutions have ensured adequate grains and milk for a large part of the population and very soon these benefits are expected to encompass the entire nation. Average life expectancy has increased with better health and nutrition. Many a remote village is serviced by roads and electricity. Building activity is widespread and schools dot the Indian panorama all over.

While the creation of an industrial base was imperative for minimising imports, the need for self-reliance by maximising the use of indigenous resources and talent could not be ignored. Against this background the planners addressed themselves to the task of putting the nation on well-defined paths to progress.

The emphasis on the development of indigenous resources and talent has provided rich dividend. The massive investment for the overall development of industry, agriculture and exports has not been misplaced. Today Indian expertise and professionalism can be compared with other countries and what's more Indian know-how and skill is being sought increasingly outside. More and more engineers and technicians are playing a vital role in strengthening the industrial base of the country and, consequently, providing jobs to millions.

India has recorded impressive growth rates in the generation of power, development of transport facilities for movement of various services, production of steel, iron ore, farm products and agriculture itself and, of course, industrial goods. This sustained pace of development, diversity in production, accent on research and quality adaptation of modern know-how coupled with aggressive marketing abroad has helped the country in building up an impressive export front.

A case in point is the engineering sector whose exports have been leap frogging every year. Against Rs. 116 crores in 1970-71, exports of engineering goods rose to Rs. 680 crores in 1978-79. The uptrend prompted the industry to raise the export target for the current fiscal year to Rs. 850 crores. This could well cross Rs. 1,000 crores by the end of this decade.

The most heartening feature of India's export trade, however, is that it does not concentrate on limited products. While the demand for tea, jute manufactures and cotton textiles continues to grow, non-traditional items have also made major dents in the world market. Systematic efforts to expand and diversify exports have opened up new vistas for engineering goods, chemicals, drugs, plasticware, rubber tyres, processed food, handtools, a wide range of consumer durables and, of course, ready-made garments, handicrafts and gem and jewellery. The extent of the country's progress in world trade can be gauged from the fact that the total trade increased from £ 1,220 million in 1949 to about £ 12,000 million recently.

While several factors—local and international—accounted for the uptrend in exports, the role of export promotion councils, commodity boards and specialised export promotion organisations, set up under the aegis of the Government, cannot be ignored. Coupled with these factors have been the various types of assistance measures provided by the Government for boosting exports.

With the emphasis on exports, it was natural for the small sector also to join the race with a view to contributing its might. Interestingly enough, the just concluded Birmingham fair fetched orders worth Rs. 36 million for the small units in India. The products on display at the buyer-seller meet, organised by the Trade Development Authority, ranged from handtools, forgings and gloves to industrial fasteners.

In the short span of 33 years, the progress achieved in the industrial infrastructural and farm fronts has proved beneficial in developing other sectors as well. Most of the development programmes have been technology-oriented and the burden of achieving targets fell on the talent available here. It was imperative to build a strong technical and managerial cadre covering vital areas of the economy. With the professional zeal and competence attained here, it was but natural for our experts and consultancy firms to compete for contracts abroad. Thus, in the last fiscal year, exports of consultancy went up by over 45 per cent. Against Rs. 9 crores during 1977-78, export earnings from pure consultancy alone touched Rs. 14 crores in 1978-79. The achievement should be viewed against the prevailing conditions abroad where there is intense competition for every tender and contract. And, if despite the stiff competition, Indian firms have done well it only highlights their competence. Indian consultants have specialised in fields, like irrigation, power generation, water supply, civil engineering, construction of roads and highways, bridges and tunnels, mining, geology, fertilisers, chemicals, architecture, railway engineering, paper and pulp industry, management consultancy including computer software, iron and steel plants as also sugar and cement plants.

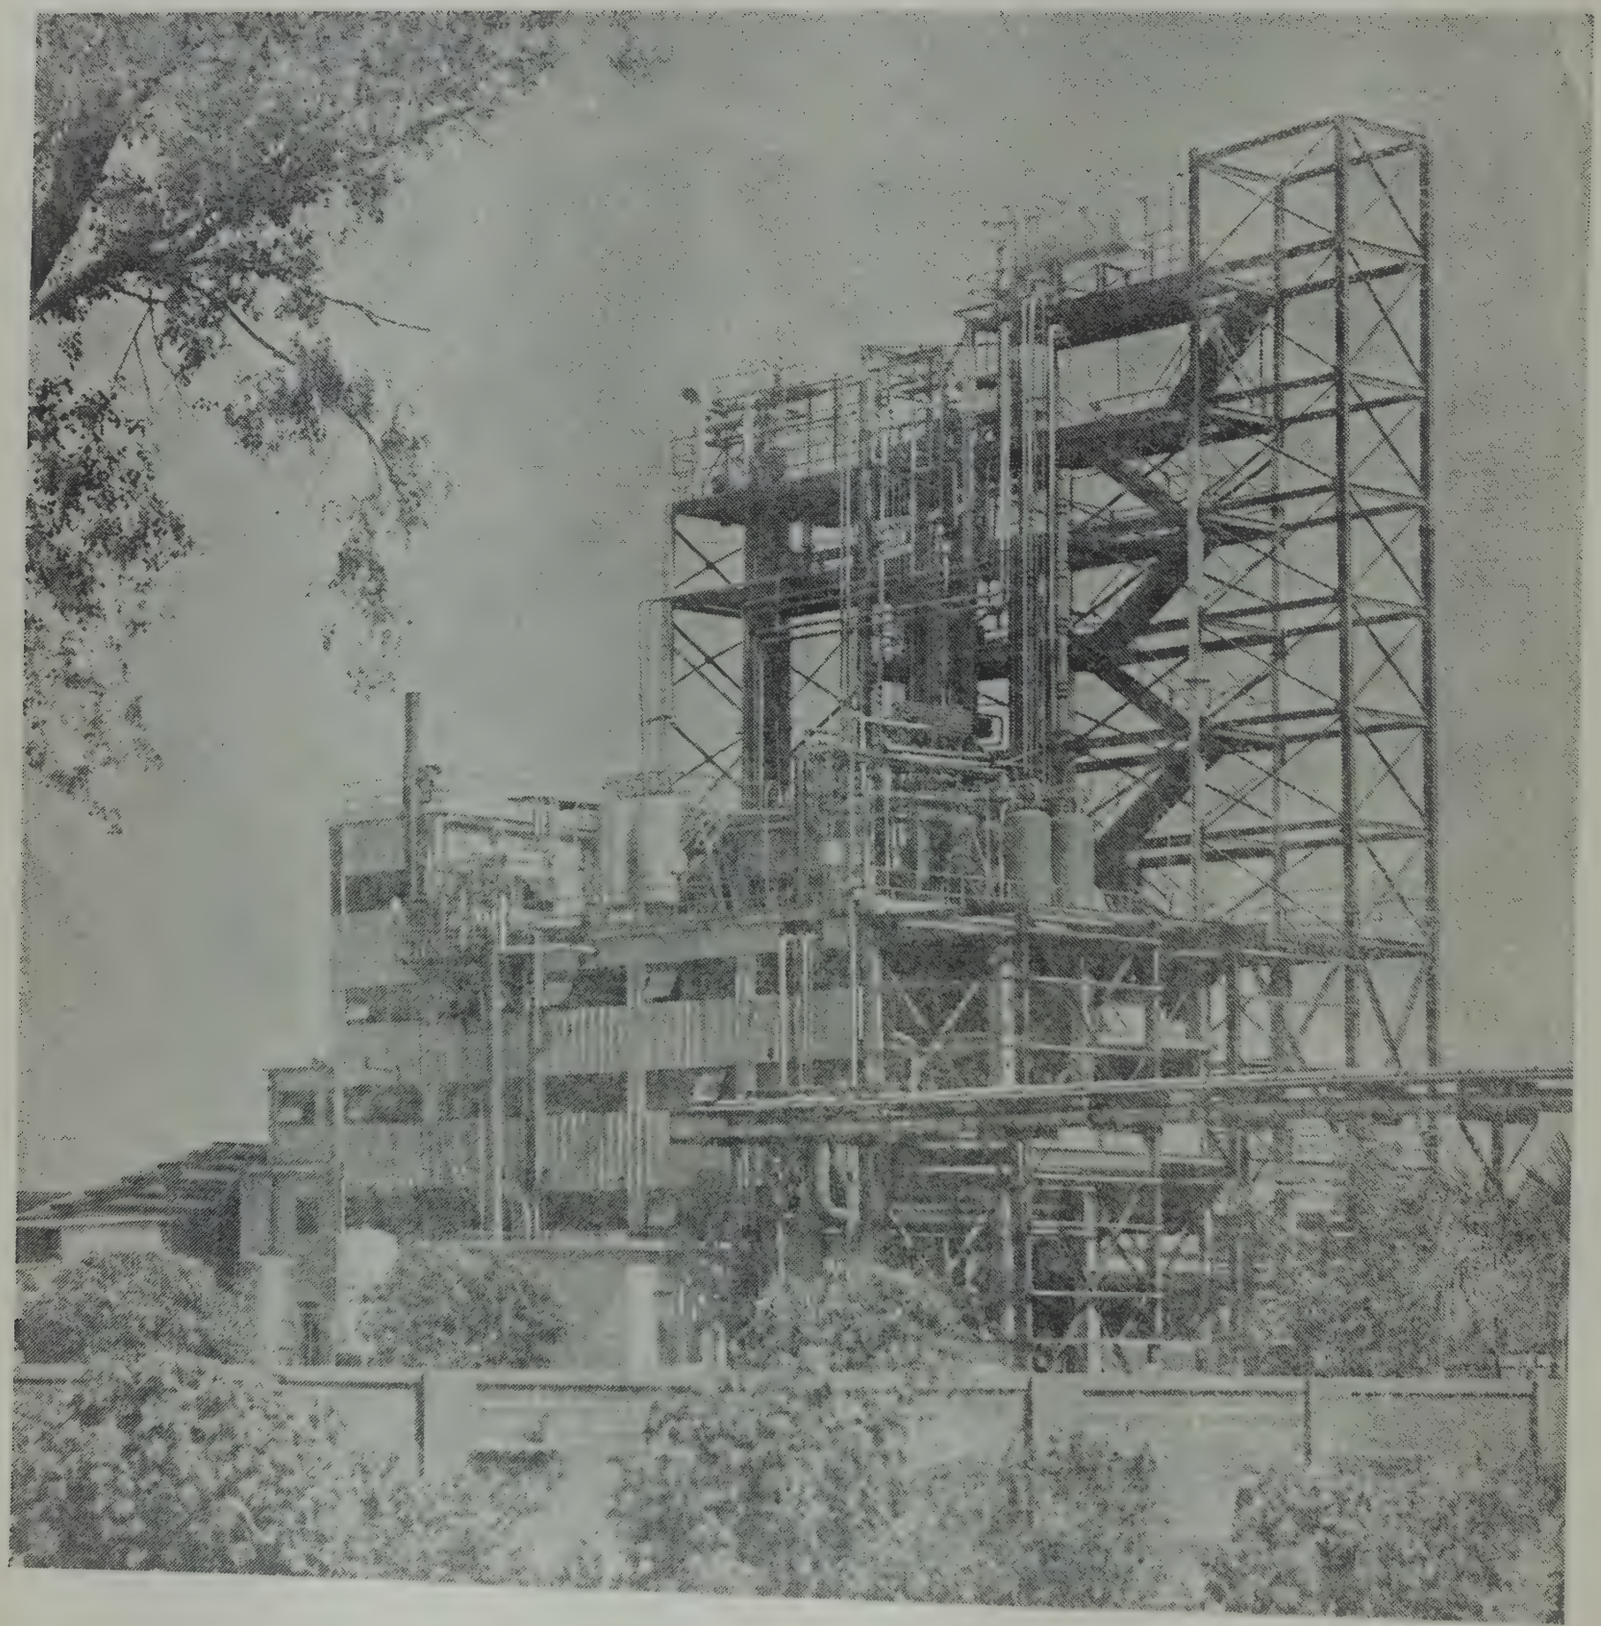

Turnkey project package bids offered by India include the supply of machinery, equipment design, installation, and engineering construction. The country has already executed several international orders for turn-key projects in a wide range of areas. These include textiles, paper and hard board asbestos cement products, electric fans, sewing machines, bicycles and medium structural fabrications.

Yet another area where great progress has been achieved relates to the setting up of joint ventures. These tie-ups have become instruments of economic co-operation. As many as 192 joint ventures have been set up by Indian firms in 35 countries. The tie-ups cover a wide range of industries relative to engineering goods, textile, pencils, razor blades soaps, woollens, hose pipes, bicycles and asbestos cement products. The rapid strides made by the country can be measured from the fact that just a few months ago as many as 160 companies in the small and large sector indicated their readyness to export know-how for the manufacture of a wide range of products. Fittingly enough the enquiries these offers generated would do any country proud. A large number of firms, many of them multinational companies, showed keen interest in acquiring know-how for items which they perhaps wanted to produce in third countries with Indian collaboration.

The professionalisation of export marketing has been ensured by the emergence of specialised Export Houses recognised by the Government on the basis of their performance, potentials and infrastructural facilities. Over 700 Export Houses today contribute nearly 35 per cent of the country's exports. These exclude the large public sector undertakings, like STC, MMTC and HHEC. India's Export Houses are playing a vital role not only in the diversification of export products and target markets but also in mobilising the export potentials of the small scale and cottage sectors.

A country of vast dimensions and varied geographical, cultural and language factors —India presents a fascinating picture of unity in diversity. It is marching forward with determined strides towards self-reliance in technology and other essential inputs. India with a great past and a pulsating present has a promising date with tomorrow.

Organisations Devoted to Export From India

With a view to fostering better trade relations with different countries of the world the Indian Government with the co-operation of Industry & Trade within the country, has set up a number of bodies and organisations solely devoted to establishing and fostering trade contacts in different regions of the world.

Most of these organisations spare no efforts to ensure the supply to foreign markets, products of good quality at fair and competitive prices and to the establishment of friendly and permanent business relations between India and the overseas markets to the advantage of both.

The following are some of the institutions which assist Indian exporters, as also overseas importers :—

FIEO is a non-profit servicing institution set up jointly by the Government, Industry & Trade. It is an apex forum co-ordinating and supplementing the export promotional activities of various organisations and institutions, like export promotion councils, commodity boards, chambers of commerce, trade associations and other specialised bodies.

FIEO has been entrusted by the Government with primary servicing functions to provide integrated assistance to Government-recognised export houses, and has been designated by the Government of India as the Central Coordinating Agency in respect of the export promotional efforts of consultancy services in the country.

FIEO has on its membership roster leading nationalised and private sector banks and engages in specialised attention to the export promotional efforts of the small sector.

FIEO has been recognised by the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, Geneva, as a national non-Governmental Indian organisation and its name has been entered in the UNCTAD Register.

FIEO has also been recognised by the United Nations and its various specialised agencies, like the FAO-Rome, ILO-Geneva, UNIDO-Vienna, ESCAP-Bangkok, Economic Commission for Latin America-Santiago, the UNDP, the GATT International Trade Centre-Geneva and the International Monetary Fund.

Indian Handlooms

The Tops in fanciful furnishings durable draperies and unforgettable fineries for you and yours and your home

In Indian Handlooms, the weaver is a creative genius who looks to the natural colours around him for transformation to the fabrics he weaves, so that the fabrics have a pride of place in glamourous interior decoration of top class hotels or respected county flats. Colour in Indian Handlooms permeate the cloth and acquire an extra vital dimension. They are surcharged with emotional content and apparent association.

Indian Handloom's wide range of glamorous colourful fabrics, embrace the latest fashion, exquisite elegance, superb strength and bounteous beauty. The one reason, therefore, Indian Handlooms are popular the world over. Everywhere, everyone has a preference and it is only Indian Handlooms that ultimately caters to that need.

The Handloom Export Promotion Council can assist you with up-to-date information on availability and sources of supply and will acquaint you with the right type of manufacturers and suppliers.

THE HANDLOOM EXPORT PROMOTION COUNCIL

622, MOUNT ROAD, MADRAS-600 006. SOUTH INDIA

The King who made Silk a legend!

Sultan Saladin could slit a scarf made of the finest silk by balancing it on the edge of his sword.

A LEGENDARY NAME IN THE WORLD OF SILK TODAY....

Proliferation of handwoven natural silk fabrics, rich in texture and beauty, steeped in elegance and tradition, has been possible by concern for quality and supreme confidence in us of our overseas customers.

Our unrelenting efforts over the years have been rewarded by a record of consistency in Silk exports and an exalted position amongst exporters.

We won nomination for the best export performance in 1978-79—three years in a row, unique in India.
We stand as a collosus in the field of Silk exports to the world.

THE PRIDE OF INDIAN SILK.

Between Australia and Caribbean we've captured 27 countries...

And, now we're ready for you too— with specialised automotive components

As one of the largest commercial vehicle manufacturers of India, we at Ashok Leyland, have on our export order book, 27 countries to whom we are supplying our vehicles and parts

And now we are ready to supply to you specialised components too, fully designed and engineered by us to international quality standards to meet your specific needs.

So, if you happen to be an auto-parts dealer, or a vehicle maker, cash in on our offer.

3 'big' advantages:

For the dealers, the items ordered will have the guarantee of the trusted Ashok Leyland quality. Prices will be competitive. And delivery on schedule.

For the vehicle manufacturers, these 3-fold advantages will hold good just as much. Plus the built-in benefits of low capital cost, no maintenance cost, low inventory carrying cost and avoidance of costs and problems related to manufacturing the items.

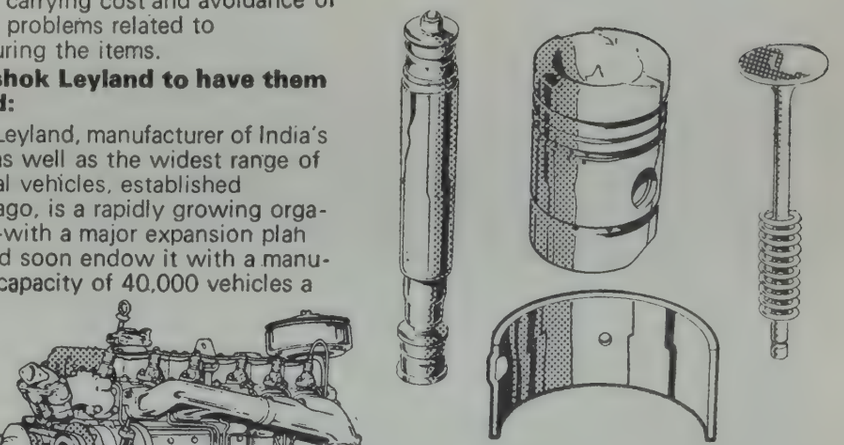

Trust Ashok Leyland to have them delivered:

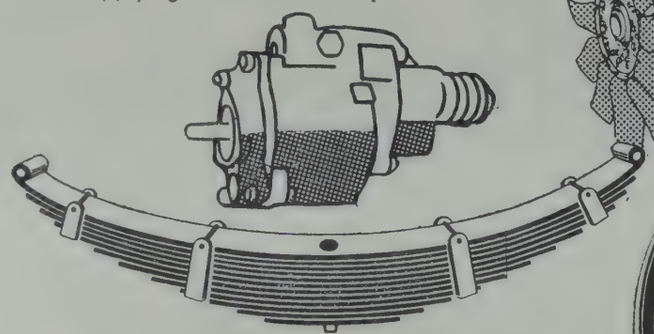

Ashok Leyland, manufacturer of India's heaviest as well as the widest range of commercial vehicles, established 30 years ago, is a rapidly growing organisation—with a major expansion plan that would soon endow it with a manufacturing capacity of 40,000 vehicles a year. This also means fresh new facilities, tools and equipments that would be at your service to meet your specific needs.

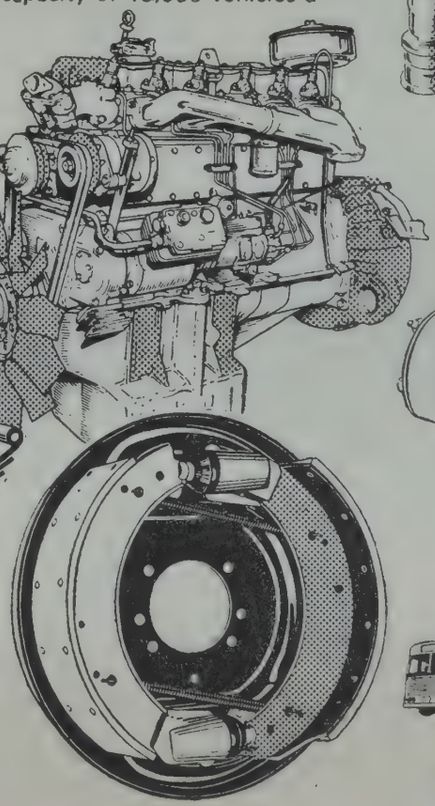

So, when you entrust your order to Ashok Leyland you are sure of getting the best out of our team of Certified Engineers and Management Personnel. And, of course, our proven quality assurance.

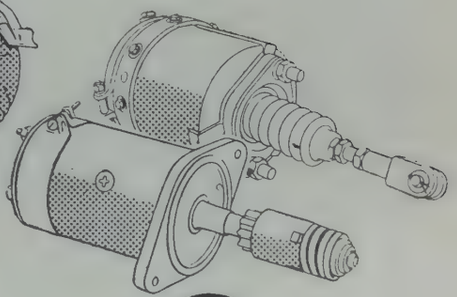

For further details and orders, write to General Manager, Marketing, Ashok Leyland,

World-market preference for Jaya Shree Insulators

Winning the Capexil Special Award, three years running, is one more reason to better its outstanding export record.

India's leading exporter of electro-porcelain insulators has won the Capexil Special Award for the third consecutive year. This brings its number of export awards to a total of six, including two national awards, and proves the high international acceptability of its products.

The winning range of insulators includes diverse types such as Long Rod, Suspension, Solid Core, Post and Pin type. As well as Low Tension Insulators, Pressed Porcelain, Arc Chambers and Steatite Bodies.

Transmission & distribution line Hardwares as per BSS, EEI & REA specifications right from a simple Lag Screw to 25000 lbs U.T.S. Conductor Clamps. Products which have competed among the best in 35 countries around the world and helped to establish Jaya Shree Insulators as a recognised Export House at home.

Because Jaya Shree Insulators continues to measure excellence not so much by the number of its awards but by international recognition and preference.

Taking deadlines by storm...

FEDO completes four challenging projects in record time

ASP-FEDO-7903

And reinforces its reputation for successfully completing assignments well ahead of time. Always. No mean achievement, considering the complexity of the tasks confronting a design, engineering and consultancy organisation.

More Sulphuric Acid with less pollution: DCDA process conversion project for Hindustan Organic Chemicals Ltd.

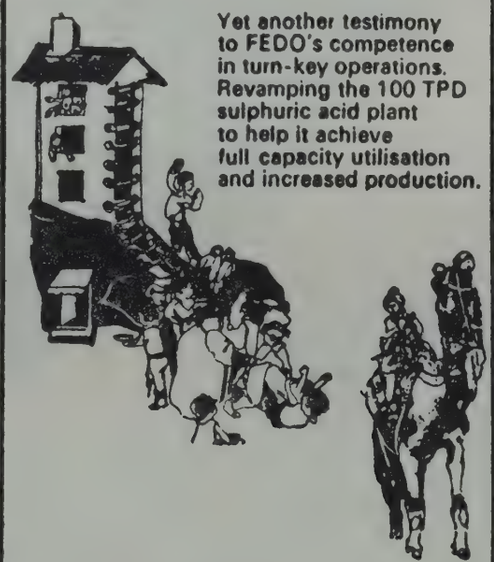

The complete turn-key project executed in just five months. From providing the process know-how and detailed engineering to commissioning of plant.

The three-fold benefit of the project:

(i) Increase of sulphuric acid production by 50%;
(ii) improvement of sulphur recovery by 1.6%;
(iii) reduction of sulphur dioxide pollution in Rasayani, Maharashtra, by over 80%.

Full capacity utilisation for peak production: Sulphuric Acid project for Hindustan Zinc Ltd.

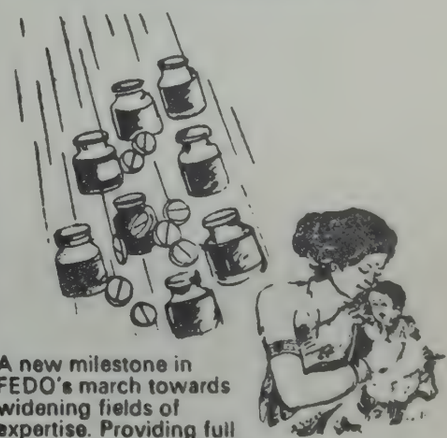

Yet another testimony to FEDO's competence in turn-key operations. Revamping the 100 TPD sulphuric acid plant to help it achieve full capacity utilisation and increased production.

An exclusive FEDO know-how for fertilisers and dry cells: Ammonium Chloride project for Kothari (Madras) Ltd.

When Kothari's wanted to obtain ammonium chloride (used in the manufacture of dry cells and used as fertiliser) from their caustic soda plant by the direct neutralisation process, their obvious choice of consultant was FEDO. Because FEDO has exclusive know-how in this process. The Indian Chemical Manufacturers' Association (ICMA) Award was conferred on FEDO in 1971, for exporting this technology to Engeclor Industria Quimica S.A. of Brazil.

More Penicillin to fight infection: expansion programme for Hindustan Antibiotics Ltd.

A new milestone in FEDO's march towards widening fields of expertise. Providing full consultancy services for Hindustan Antibiotics Rs. 120 million expansion programme. The newly commissioned, expanded penicillin plant will produce 200 mmu of the drug annually.

From fertilisers to antibiotics and pesticides to explosives' intermediates, FEDO's expertise is endlessly versatile. FEDO looks forward to more such challenges in the future.

INDIAN KNOW-HOW FOR IRON AND STEEL

India has built up over the years considerable expertise in the design, engineering, construction and operation of steel plants—large integrated complexes, mini-steel plants and alloy and special steel plants. Also direct reduction, pelletization and ferro-alloys plants; foundries/forges, rolling mills and metalworking plants. India is now in a position to share this experience with the developing world and other countries.

DASTURCO is in the forefront of steel plant design and technology and is today internationally recognised as one of the leading consultancy organisations. Pioneer in steel plant engineering in India, it is actively engaged in the planning of steel development in the Arab world, South-East Asia, Africa and Latin America.

DASTURCO is Principal Consultant for the Misurata Iron and Steel Complex in the Socialist People's Libyan Arab Jamahiriya.

In Indonesia, DASTURCO has designed and engineered a modern electric arc furnace/ continuous casting/wire rod mill of P.T. Badja Indonesia Utama.

In Venezuela, it is providing engineering services in specified plant areas for the expansion of SIDOR steel plant at Matanzas.

PARLES—the Soft Drinks People

Parle (Exports) Private Limited, Bombay is the only national marketer of soft drinks in India. Starting its operations in 1949, Parles branched into a major franchiser of soft drink plants throughout the country and in the Middle East during last 25 years. By the end of 1979, Parles will have 35 automated modern soft drink bottlers in India and 7 abroad in Middle East and Asia. As a matter of fact, other than the American and English companies, Parles is one of the few successful soft companies in the world which franchises its brand names outside its own country.

Parles carbonated drinks are a household name in India. Their Cola THUMS UP was introduced in 1978 and is an instant national favourite. Their LIMCA has an equal reputation and is perhaps the only drink of its kind in the Lemon segment. The Orange drink, GOLD SPOT, is a longtime national favourite. These drinks today are available in remotest parts of the country—a tastimony to the mature and well-planned distribution of products ensured by Parles.

Besides these products, Perles Maaza brand of carbonated flavours-Pineapple, Strawberry, Orange and non-carbonated Mango are favourites not only in India but through the Middle East. Maaza Mango has found shelf space in stores in New York and London and will go to other parts of the Western world.

The true success of Parles is in its meticulous attention to quality of flavour making, its marketing expertise, its advertising knowhow and its rigid quality control. These, together, is the package that Parles offer to a franchisee right from its inception and always. Today Parles have a full range of soft drink flavours.

Make yours a business of fun and health—for that is what soft drinks give. To you and your friends!

IDI dyes have spread the world over... and are competing with the world's best.

Just a few years ago, the Indian Textile Industry had to rely on imports of dyestuffs to colour its textiles.

IDI has changed all that.

With advanced technology and an enviable quality control, IDI products – so extensively used in the home market—are now exported even to the developed world.

Range:

□ Vat Dyes □ Disperse Dyes □ Reactive Dyes and □ Pigments □ Anthraquinone and derivative Intermediates □ Sodium Hydrosulphite □ Aluminium Chloride

SHELLAC

If gramophone records had existed in ancient times, those grooves would have recorded the wonder of Shellac, even today.

For even while the great sages were writing the mystic Scriptures, millions of microscopic red insects, the Laccifer Lacca were industriously secreting a resinous substance called Lac. Known today in its processed form as Shellac.

It was in 1895 that the first gramophone disc made its appearance made out of Lac, and a furious demand from the West for this miracle of natural chemistry came into being.

But the world already knew that this priceless Lac had untold potential, that its uses were myriad.

It is impossible to list the many uses of Shellac. But it provides the world everything from the finest protection for foodstuff, paints, varnishes, dyes, inks, even boot polish. It is used as a releasing agent in the Rubber industry. A bonding agent in drugs and pharmaceuticals. And as a stiffener in leather.

In the field of superior quality natural Shellac, India ranks as the largest producer and marketer in the world.

Today, through the activities of the Export Promotion Council, Shellac is available throughout the inhabited world.

Shellac is so familiar today, that conscious remembrance becomes unimportant, but its inestimable value remains.

LEATHER SHOE UPPERS

By Mr. K.N. WASAN
Managing Partner, Wasan & Co., Agra

The above industry came into lime-light in the year 1966 when World's Largest Boot-Makers in U.S.A. came to India and promoted export of Cowboy Leather Shoe Uppers. From 1966 to 1975 this industry was struggling and at the same time creating infra-structure to meet demands for international standard Shoe Uppers.

During this take off period of about 10 years India exported about 3 Million Cowboy Uppers made of cow hide.

In the year 1975 other world buyers from G.D.R., France, Denmark, England, Canada and U.S.S.R. entered the Indian market for this ready-made Shoe Uppers made from Cow, Goat and Buff Calf Leathers.

Since the year 1975 export of this item has been to the tune of about 1.5 Million pairs per year and now it is expected that in the year 1980 at least 3 Million pairs of leather shoe uppers will be manufactured and exported by about 40 units established in Agra, Delhi, Madras, Kanpur and Calcutta etc.

It is my forecast that by the year 1990 this item will be exported to the tune of 10 Million pairs every year if present facilities continue to be given to this industry by Government of India.

This has been only possible due to conditions prevailing in Europe and America regarding effluent problem for tanneries and very high cost of labour for shoe upper making.

The Government of India has helped the Finished Leather industry and the Shoe Upper industry by allowing to import modern machines under O.G.L. which have created quality production acceptable in the foreign markets.

Large Shoe factories of Europe and America are very keen to tie-up with progressive Indian Units who can maintain international standards in leather as well as Shoe Upper making. Readymade shoe uppers of our country fit into the production programme of all foreign shoe factories without disturbing their own infra-structure. Correct lasts, latest designs, exact patterns and large lasting capacities together with ample supply PU Unit Soles in Europe and America have made shoe uppers a viable proposition for factories in these countries.

Due to distance between India and Europe all leather shoe uppers have to be exported by airfreight and Government of India has always considered favourably to help the export of this item by giving suitable Airfreight Subsidy. Without this help airfreight cost will become too high and will effect overall export.

We've developed new tastes.

It started off with tea—world-famous Brooke Bond India tea. Like delicate Supreme. Rich Taj Mahal. Red Label tea and tea bags. Each blend specially prepared to bring complete satisfaction.

And then, we developed a taste for coffee. Bru, with its distinctive chicory flavour and its international appeal.

Also—spices. We share them with you in the Indian Splendour range. 'Curry Powder' and 'Garam Masala' for an exotic Indian flavour. Black pepper, cardamom and turmeric, along with a host of others. All great originals from India.

And as we expand our range of export products, we will be sharing many other great tastes with you. All, of course, in the Brooke Bond India tradition which popularises them the world over.

FIRST again to introduce — "GRIPIT" Synthetic Transmission belting with Nylon Core a NEW concept in power BELTING!

for Engineering Textile, Paper, Sugar drives GRIPIT IS THE ANSWER!

It is this tough, resilient, load-bearing plastic which gives GRIPIT its astounding efficiency and long life. It is bonded to chrome leather and ensures that GRIPIT is permanently 'non-stretch' under the severest conditions. It is nine times stronger and mere a quarter the weight of leather, which enables GRIPIT to transmit higher powers at far greater speeds (with far less power consumption) for a far greater length of time than ordinary belting.

SUDARSHAN made it's appearance in 1951, with a small capital of Rs. 40,000/-. It's main assets then, as always were talent, hard work and a will to succeed.

From an initial objective of manufacturing Chrome Yellow Pigments, SUDARSHAN went on to produce other Inorganic Pigments like Prussian Blues and Chrome Greens. This was followed by a wide range of Organic Pigments for the first time in India, thus initiating a Pioneering tradition, which continues to this day.

Research, uninterrupted and purposeful has been the driving force behind SUDARSHAN'S pioneering activities. SUDARSHAN'S R&D breakthrough in developing the manufacturing technology of intermediates by indigenous means, was acknowledged by the Indian Chemical Manufacturers' Association with the Sir P.C. Ray Award, as early as 1967.

SUDARSHAN realised the importance of exports to the national economy and considered it a duty to do its best to earn foreign exchange. After over a decade of hard work, the annual exports have grown to over Rs. 15 million in 1978, with sales in over 40 countries.

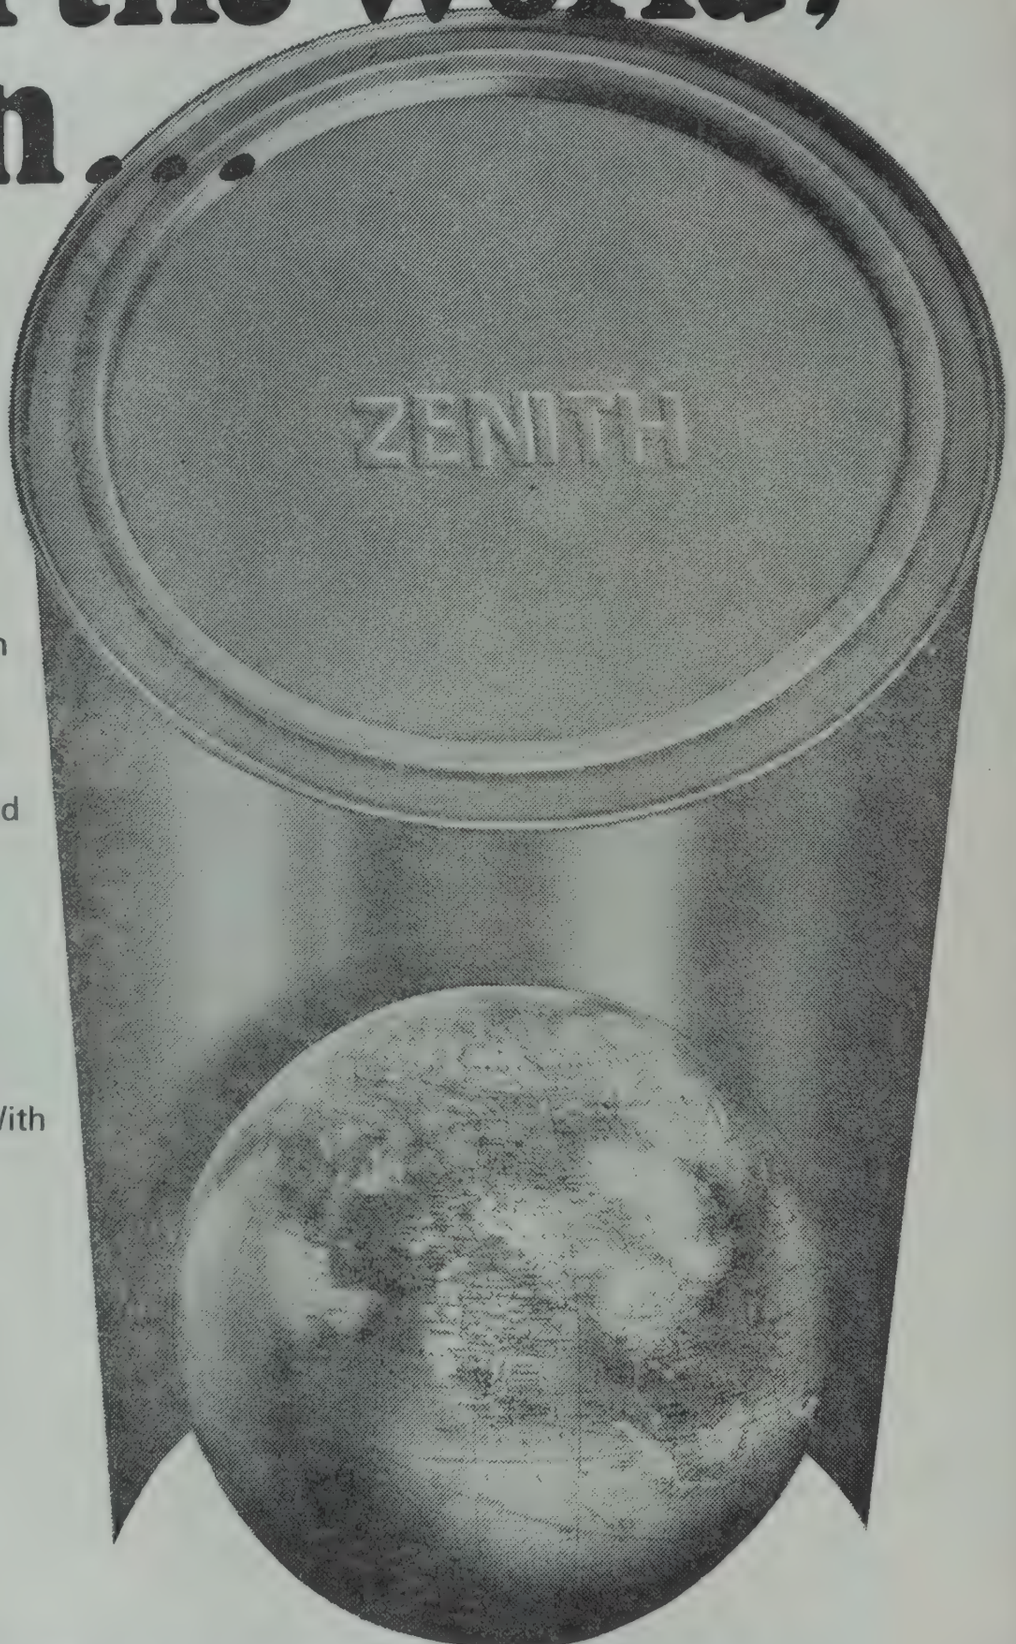

A modern plant at Poona, a large complex with all the required infrastructure at Roha, dynamic R&D and Control Laboratories, a full fledged Engineering Division which fabricates and erects the chemical machinery required, 1200 employees, markets in over 40 countries and over 2000 satisfied, discerning customers..... all these add to a healthy picture.

The product-mix manufactured at Roha, includes not only the traditional pigments and intermediates, but also sophisticated products like Fluorescent Pigments, Pearl Essences, 3:3 Dichlorobenzidine (DCB), Oxygen and Hydrogen gases, and Beta Naphthol. The production of BON Acid, Naphthols and Fast Colour bases will commence in 1980 and immediately thereafter the production of Pesticides and more intermediates will be taken up.

SUDARSHAN has entered into collaboration agreements with three internationally known foreign companies for the manufacture of three products : with Sericol AG of Switzerland and UK for Fluorescent Pigments, Sanyo Color Works Ltd. of Japan for Pearl Essences, and Allied Chemical Corporation of USA for 3:3 DCB.

SUDARSHAN'S well knit team of technocrafts, chemists and engineers, has been responsible for the tiny acorn growing into the mighty oak that it is today. This team, with others to help it, will ensure the continuing growth of this oak in the years to come.

For all the world, we can...

...the finest fruit juice, fresh from the orchard; garden-green vegetables. A swift process, from handpicking to canning, ensures the complete retention of natural flavours. Juices exported under the brand names of Al Siraj and Naaz.

At Zenith, not only do we containerize but export much more—spices, chemicals, dyestuffs and their intermediaries. And we manufacture high quality containers, tubes, pilfer-proof caps, jerry cans, steel barrels. With designing and printing known for its excellence worldwide. Making our export earnings by far the highest among packaging companies in India.

We don't stop there. With steadily increasing exports, Zenith tin cans travel far. To Africa, the Middle East, South-East Asia, Australia... The world knows we can.
